

Professional/Technical Services Strategy Group

There is a growing market for technical and professional services such as information technology, manufacturing support, business consulting, architecture, engineering and facility maintenance, legal and accounting. These vital services play a key role in determining the cost of a product and the ability of a business to make a profit. The presence of a strong professional and technical services industry enables other businesses to be more productive and more competitive in world markets. In the United States, these service businesses are creating the majority of new jobs.

Purposes/Duties:

- Increase awareness of the professional/technical service capabilities in the region
- Assessment of service needs within area businesses
- Facilitate educational programs on outsourcing
- Facilitate the development and growth of local professional and technical service businesses
